President's Message

Dear Donors and Supporters,

Over the past year, School Time Charity Organization (STCO) has continued its commitment to one simple but powerful belief: education has the ability to change the course of a child's life. In a country where access to learning remains deeply challenged, your support has allowed us to offer stability, opportunity, and hope to some of the most vulnerable children in Afghanistan.

Last year, we remained focused on ensuring that orphaned children are not left behind. Through the continued operation of our schools, we provided safe learning environments, daily meals, clothing, and educational resources. Students also gained foundational skills in English and computer literacy.

We are deeply grateful to every individual, family, and institution that placed their trust in School Time Charity. Your contributions were managed with care, transparency, and accountability.

Thank you for believing in the power of education.

Niamatullah Mojadidi

President

Financial Snapshot (CAD)

Our Community Support

Our work this year was made possible through the continued generosity of individual donors and community institutions, particularly Masaajid across Ontario, including Toronto, Markham, Ajax, Milton, Oshawa, Ottawa and Kingston city.

This year reflects steady growth, responsible stewardship of funds, and a continued commitment to delivering education and relief where it is needed most.

Mission, Vision & Values

Our Mission

At School Time Charity Organization (STCO), our mission is to ensure that orphaned children in Afghanistan have access to quality education, adequate nutrition, and essential support—regardless of their circumstances.

We work to break the cycle of poverty by investing in education and skill development, empowering children to build dignified, self-reliant futures.

Our Vision

We envision a future where every child in Afghanistan has the opportunity to learn, grow, and contribute meaningfully to society. Our long-term goal is to support the creation of communities where education is a fundamental right and a pathway to stability, opportunity, and hope.

Our Core Values

Our work is guided by the following principles:

- Integrity – Acting honestly and ethically in all our decisions
- Transparency – Maintaining openness with donors, partners, and communities
- Equity – Serving children and families based on need, without discrimination
- Accountability – Taking responsibility for outcomes and stewardship of funds
- Honesty – Communicating truthfully about our impact and challenges

What Makes Our Work Distinct

- A clear and sustained focus on education as the foundation for long-term change
- Direct implementation of programs, ensuring quality and accountability
- Building and operating schools in areas with limited access to education
- Holistic support for children, combining learning, nutrition, clothing, and skills training
- Strong community-based donor partnerships rooted in trust and shared responsibility

Our approach centers on education not only as learning, but as a tool for dignity and long-term resilience.

Programs & Interventions

Education & Schooling Program:

Launched in 2018, ongoing.

350 children supported with schooling, meals, uniforms, and skills training.

Program Overview

- Program Name: Schooling
- Year Launched: 2018
- Primary Focus: Literacy and foundational education
- Target Group: Orphaned children
- Geographic Area: Afghanistan
- Program Status: Ongoing

The Challenge

Many orphaned children in Afghanistan lack access to formal education due to poverty, insecurity, and the loss of parental support. Without schooling, these children face long-term risks of illiteracy, unemployment, and social exclusion. On the other hand the orphaned children are mostly street children and they are easily targeted by mafia groups, warlords and human trafficking bonds.

Our Approach

School Time Charity Organization (STCO) directly builds and operates schools to ensure consistent access to education. Our program goes beyond classroom learning by addressing the basic needs that enable children to attend and succeed in school.

Key Activities

- Construction and operation of school facilities
- Provision of uniforms, shoes, stationery, and learning materials
- Daily meals to support attendance and concentration
- English language and basic computer education
- Academic support to help students reach age-appropriate learning levels
- Engaging children in sports and entertainment activities

Program Delivery

- Implementation Model: Direct implementation
- Frequency: Year-round
- Stakeholders: Teachers, school leadership, families, and local communities

Reach During the Year

- 350 orphaned children supported with full-year education, nutrition, clothing, and skill training
- 200 orphan families supported through food assistance
- 400 families assisted through relief interventions

Who We Serve

- Children from vulnerable households
- Both boys and girls
- Early childhood and school-age students
- By addressing both educational and basic needs, the program creates an environment where children are able to learn consistently and with dignity.

Impact & Outcomes

- Children transitioned from street-based work to education.
- Improved literacy, numeracy, English, and computer skills.
- Long-term focus on dignity and self-reliance.

What Changed Because of Our Work

Through sustained access to education and essential support, children who were previously excluded from schooling are now learning, developing skills, and building confidence. The impact of School Time Charity's work extends beyond classrooms— affecting families, communities, and long-term prospects for vulnerable children.

Key Outcomes Achieved This Year

- Children gained basic literacy and numeracy skills, enabling age-appropriate learning
- Students developed English language proficiency and introductory computer skills
- Regular school attendance improved due to the provision of meals, uniforms, and supplies
- Children transitioned from informal or street-based work into structured learning environments
- Families experienced reduced financial pressure, allowing children to remain in school

Indicators of Progress

Progress is assessed through:

- Student enrolment and attendance consistency
- Academic progression across core subjects
- Skill acquisition in English and computer use
- Teacher assessments and learning-level evaluations
- Ongoing engagement with families and caregivers

Stories of Change

Emran: Rebuilding a Childhood Through Education

When our team first met Emran, he was ten years old and spending his days on the streets of Kabul. Having lost his father, his family struggled to meet basic needs, and school was no longer part of his life. Like many children in similar circumstances, Emran's days were shaped by survival rather than learning.

After a careful assessment of his situation, Emran was enrolled in one of School Time Charity's schools. He received uniform, shoes, books, stationery, and a school bag—simple items that marked his return to a structured learning environment. Because he had been out of school, teachers provided additional academic support to help him reach the learning level of his age group. Alongside regular classes, Emran was introduced to basic computer skills and language learning.

Today, Emran attends school regularly. He can read and write in his native language, speak English with growing confidence, and use a computer independently. His progress in mathematics has allowed him to participate fully in class. Most importantly, he now spends his days learning in a safe environment—focused on his education rather than survival.

A New Beginning Through Education

Sumaya was only five years old when she lost her father in a suicide bombing. With no stable source of income, her mother struggled to support the family, and Sumaya began spending her days helping by selling small items on the street. Education, at that point, felt out of reach.

Following an assessment, Sumaya was enrolled in school through School Time Charity's education program. She was provided with clothing, books, stationery, and a school bag, and received additional academic support to help her adjust to the classroom environment. Teachers worked closely with her to ensure she could keep pace with her peers.

Today, Sumaya is among the top-performing students in her class. She has learned to read and write, developed strong numeracy skills, and gained early exposure to English and computers. School has given her routine, confidence, and a sense of belonging—allowing her to grow in a space designed for learning, not survival.

Once selling on streets, now thriving in school with confidence.

Our team works closely with local communities to ensure programs are delivered effectively, respectfully, and in line with cultural and contextual realities.

Accountability & Safeguarding

- Programs are directly implemented, allowing close oversight
- Regular engagement with families and community members informs program decisions
- Ethical standards guide interactions with beneficiaries, donors, and partners
- Child dignity and safety are central to program delivery

Commitment to Transparency

We believe accountability strengthens trust. Donors are kept informed about how funds are used and how programs evolve. Feedback from communities and supporters is welcomed and valued.

Strong governance and ethical practice are essential to sustaining meaningful impact.

Looking Ahead

Priorities:

New school, widow skill training, teacher training.

Funding Needed: $300,000 CAD

Ways to Support:

One-time and monthly donations.

Looking Ahead

As we move into the coming year, School Time Charity remains committed to strengthening and expanding its impact through education and community support. While the needs remain significant, so does the opportunity to create lasting change.

Our key priorities for the year ahead include:

- Building a new school to expand access to education for orphaned children
- Modernizing school equipment to improve learning environments
- Training teachers and staff to enhance educational quality
- Providing skill training for widows, supporting family stability and self-reliance

These initiatives are designed to deepen impact, strengthen sustainability, and respond to evolving community needs.

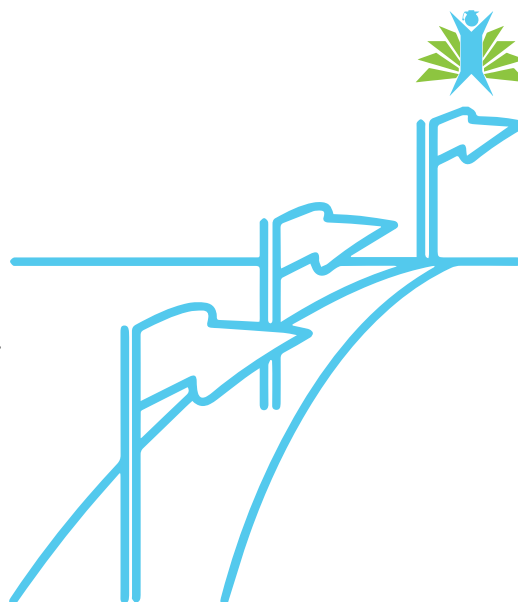

Funding Needs

To achieve these goals, we estimate a funding requirement of $300,000 CAD for the coming year. This investment will directly support program expansion, infrastructure development, and quality improvement across our education and relief initiatives.

How You Can Support

Continued donor support is essential to sustaining and growing this work. There are several ways to contribute:

- One-time donations to support immediate needs
- Monthly giving to ensure consistent and reliable program funding
- Community fundraising through masjid and local initiatives
- Advocacy and outreach by sharing our mission within your networks

A Message of Gratitude

Every child supported, every classroom opened, and every family assisted this year was made possible through your generosity. Your trust enables us to operate with integrity, transparency, and purpose.

We invite you to continue this journey with us—investing in education, restoring dignity, and building hope for children and families who need it most.
